

The Liberty Bell

It is located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
It was made in 1752 in London, England.
It cracked the first time it rang.
It had to be fixed twice after the first crack.

It stands for America's independence or freedom.
It was used to tell people about meetings in town.